

Come Mother, This Castor Oil Is What You Need---Don't Cry!

If you, mother, had to swallow the awful dose---
Think back to your childhood days---Ugh!
Give your children Cascarets instead. Cascarets taste like candy. Every child loves to take a Cascaret. Besides Cascarets act better on the little liver and bowels when the child is bilious, constipated, feverish and sick. Cascarets are delightful---harmless---cheap!

Each 10 cent box of Cascarets, the pleasant candy cathartic, contains directions and dosage for children aged one year old and upwards. When the little one's tongue turns white, breath feverish, stomach sour, there is nothing better to "work" the nasty bile, souring food and constipation poison from the child's system. Give Cascarets, then never worry.

WILL INCREASE FORCES IN CONTROL OF ODESSA

ODESSA, Dec. 26. (By the Associated Press.)—The volunteer army which is holding Odessa, under French command, is to be increased by detachments from the Crimea. The main force of the republican army which is now ten miles from Odessa, is reported to have received reinforcements from Kiev, who came in an armored train.

3,000 PERUVIANS FLEE FROM CHILE IN FEAR

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 26.—It is estimated that 3,000 Peruvians have fled from Chile to Peru and Bolivia during the past month as a result of the crisis between Chile and Peru. Every steamship from the south is bringing scores of fugitives. A dispatch from the Southern Peru reports that a Chilean airplane flew over that port on Dec. 21.

BOTH STRONG FOR LUNG-VITA

Mrs. Davis Says She and Husband Know What It Will Do.

RELIEVED OF DEEP COLD

In Better Health Now Than in Many Years, She Says.

"Last fall I contracted a severe cold that settled upon my lungs and lasted until I recently met a Mr. Hester, who told me of the wonderful life-giving Lung-Vita. I bought a bottle of Lung-Vita, in a small glass bottle, and took it as directed. I have taken a bottle of later date in given below.

I have taken just one-half of a bottle and feel like a new woman. The cough has left me and the pain in my chest has completely gone. By the time I have finished the bottle I have I think I will be in better health than I have in years. On Aug. 18, 1918, Mrs. Davis wrote: 'I have taken two bottles of Lung-Vita, one small and one large size, since I wrote you after severe chest trouble. My husband is also strong for Lung-Vita. He has seen its wonderful healing power and knows what it will do.' Your druggist or dealer should handle Lung-Vita, but if he won't supply you write Nashville Medicine Company, Nashville, Tenn., for free booklet.

HOOVER REPORTS ON DESTRUCTION DUE TO TEUTONS

U. S. Expert Makes Public Details of Systematic Survey of Damage Done in Belgium by German Troops.

INCREASE ALLOTMENT
OF FOOD FROM U. S.

Result of Investigation Is Shown in Announced Plan for Aiding People to Reclaim Lost Homesteads.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—Physical damage wrought in Belgium by the German armies is described in a cablegram received by the food administration from Herbert Hoover, who, with William B. Poland, European director of the commission for relief in Belgium, has just completed a survey of conditions in this liberated country.

On the basis of Mr. Hoover's report, the food administration announced today that thereafter 150,000 tons of supplies, including clothing, would be shipped to Belgium each month. As this program will require 100,000 dead-weight tons of shipping in addition to the 200,000 tons now on charter to the relief commission, application for additional tonnage has been made to the shipping board.

The cost of the entire relief program will be borne by the Belgian and French governments from loans made by the American government. France's part of the expense will be for supplying the people of Northern France as well as several hundred thousand refugees who were forced from that section into Belgium during the retreat of the German forces.

Mr. Hoover's report says: "Together with Mr. Poland, European director of the commission for relief in Belgium, I have now completed a survey of the entire Belgian situation as disclosed by the evacuation. The work of the American relief officials in Europe during the last months has been beyond all praise because they have followed up the retreating army with distributions by one means or another, and there has been no break in the food supply at any point."

Prior to the armistice, the German army had completely destroyed a zone of railroads and canals some 20 miles wide, extending entirely across Belgium. After the armistice there was comparatively little destruction of transportation to the rear of this zone and with the rapid rehabilitation of transportation facilities across this zone of destruction, the problem of distribution of food and necessities could be undertaken with much less difficulty than at present.

Abandon Beasts.

Their action toward the native harvests and cattle, their withdrawal differs widely in different areas. They started to take all remaining hogs from the western part of Belgium, except those hidden by the peasants in underground caves. After the armistice, however, and with the demolition of the German army in its final retreat many of these beasts were abandoned or sold by holders to the peasants farther back, and in practical results there appears to have been no widespread cattle stealing in the region. During the four years of occupation there has been a great diminution, probably over one-half in the total number of cattle and hogs. It can be said almost literally that horses have disappeared out of Belgium, there are not being left 15 per cent of the original animals left.

Investigation proves that industrial and residential destruction in Belgium varies greatly in different localities and with different industries. For instance, out of the 50 steel furnaces in Belgium 35 or 40 have been deliberately destroyed by the Germans. The determination to end the Belgian steel industry. Many of the textile mills have been run out of commission, either through deliberate destruction and removal of machinery or by removal of the coals and brass parts and electric motors. Some of the textile mills of the more antiquated type of equipment apparently do not appeal to the Germans and they can be gotten into action at an early date. The Germans seem to have focused themselves on the modern equipment.

The glass industry has been but little interfered with and the German promise of retribution by President Wilson seems to have saved the coal industry, except for a few mines although actual explosives and wires were laid in place for the destruction of a large number of the mines. The president's warning seems to have created a sudden change of heart.

There are some 300,000 French refugees in Belgium, driven out of Northern France by the Germans. They have been cared for out of the meager stores of the Belgians and by the commission for relief in Belgium. They are, however, like homeless pigeons in their resolve to return to their native villages.

As there is no transportation, the roads southward into France are a continuous stream of these pitiful groups of men, women and children pushing their carts, and trudging through the cold and wind toward their destroyed homes. Everything is being done that is humanly possible, but in the present state of demoralization, with moving armies, the necessity of using every truck and horse with which to feed the population their plight is heart-breaking.

They refuse all permission to wait in the crowded Belgian villages until their affairs can be organized.

The Americans of the relief commission are working night and day providing shelter stations, clothing and food for them, but like many other human migrations in Europe today there is no mitigation to the suffering that must go on.

"One of the great difficulties of the Belgians lies in the enforced currency circulation imposed upon them by the Germans. This currency runs into millions of paper money and presents an extremely difficult financial problem to the government.

"The Belgian government is rapidly taking hold. The Belgian manufacturers are engaged everywhere in the rehabilitation of their works so far as materials are available, and the spirit of Belgium was never better than today. The Belgians are resolved to find a solution of their manifold difficulties with as little assistance as possible from the outside. They are, of course, dependent on government financial aid for the provision of imports pending German indemnity, and the reconstruction of their export business."

HERALDS WILSON'S VISIT TO ENGLAND AS HISTORIC EVENT

London Times Calls Trip Memorable One for Both American and British History and Discusses Views of Leader.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The arrival of President Wilson will be one of the greatest events in our and American history, says the Times in an article of welcome to England of the American executive.

"He will come," the Times adds, "at a critical period in our history. We have won the war, though in no sense measure, to American assistance. We have now to win peace, and peace will not be won for this country or the world unless it is based on the warm, active friendship of the two great English-speaking nations."

"There are many bonds of fellowship between us, but next to common language is the joint possession of our common law. We are attempting to turn aspirations and international jurisprudence into genuine operative international law and to endow it with sanctions like those of municipal laws. Without the active good fellowship of England and America it simply can not be done."

"We alone speak the common blum of law, we only have in us no transitory political ideal into the form of international legislation and sanction necessary to give it validity."

Ideal of Nations.

"A league of nations is the ideal of the English-speaking peoples and it is the ideal, ultimately to the enemy, that we in England have less enthusiasm for this ideal than they in America. President Wilson has a great popularity following in Europe it is because the expression of this ideal of future international relations with the greatest clearness and force. It is an ideal nowhere held more strongly than here, an ideal to which no nation can contribute more practically than our own."

"A league of nations on both land and sea. The British navy always has seemed to be in the forefront of the world in behalf of the ideal of law."

"We believe that the world has been exchanged it will be to the President Wilson's ideal."

In coming to us he is a great harbinger of peace and deep peace to resolve into themselves all nations' discord."

MANY TENNESSEANS EXPECTED IN FLORIDA

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 26. (Sp.)—Of 25 tourists registered at the St. Petersburg hotel of trade from Tennessee, only one is from Memphis, Mrs. F. M. Gilliland, sixteen of the 23 are from Knoxville.

City officials here expect at least 1,500 tourists from Tennessee after the holidays, the figure being based on previous registrations for seasons gone by.
